will be curating our very first rock camp for girls ages 11-18 this summer from August 21st-25th. We are teaming up with amazing (wo)mentors from the local music community to offer five days of workshops, band practice and art based learning that will be capped off with a concert featuring our campers. If you know someone who might be interested in participating email Eva at artreach@charlottestreetarts.ca and keep an eye on our website for our application which we will be launching later this month!

a week-long urban cultural experience, which gives youth from St. Mary's First Nation and Newcomer youth from the Multicultural Association of Fredericton the opportunity to explore and discover Fredericton through an arts and culture point of view. We will be learning about traditional arts and crafts from First Nations' artists as well as touring some of the city's most treasured institutions.

CHARLOTTE GLENCROSS SCHOLARSHIP

Deadline: Friday, June 30th

This scholarship, which honours the late artist, arts educator and activist Charlotte Glencross, aims to support developing practitioners in the arts. The submissions are open to all age categories and disciplines, where an artist or crafts person seeks to build and establish a direction in their work.

The Charlotte Glencross Scholarship is built for Professional Development in the Arts and is awarded to a candidate who:

- Has demonstrated exceptional potential and talent as an artist; and
- Intends to study arts at a recognized institution AND/OR with a recognized private instructor for the purpose of pursuing a career as a professional artist or arts professional.
